An interesting document, from the years 1833-34, found in the Polish State Archives in Płock, outlines the court proceedings after one Ludvick, Baron de Vendessen, was unable to pay his debts associated with the estate known as Czermno. A curator was assigned to take over the management of the estate. Part of the Czermno estate was the village of “Wymysle Niemeicki”, known to most Mennonites as Deutsch Wymyschle and now known as Nowe Wymysle. As part of the inventory a list of Dt. Wymyschle owners was drawn up, together with the annual payment of each owner and the number of days of Scharwark [mandatory work done on the estate] required by each.
