

Culm Region Mennonites in the 1772 Census of West Prussia

Geheimes Staatsarchiv Preussischer Kulturbesitz, Berlin, Germany

Glenn H Penner (gpenner@uoguelph.ca)

The majority of Mennonites of the Culm region belonged to the Schoensee Frisian congregation. The church records were started in 1773 but were lost at the end of WW2. From 1800 on Mennonite vital stats such as births, marriages and deaths were recorded by the Prussian states church (Evangelical Lutheran). These provide a wealth of information and have been extracted. On the other hand there are few genealogical sources for the time period before 1800. They include the 1772 census of West Prussia, the 1776 census of Mennonites in West Prussia and the 1789 census of Mennonite landowners in West Prussia. Unfortunately these are all simply lists of household heads with information on numbers of family members, land holding and other economic information. No names, other than that of the household head, are available. Some property and inheritance records, going back to the late 1700s, are also available, and have not been fully analyzed.

The data presented here comes from an old transcription of the original census. This transcription was done by various people, using typewriters of varying quality, and then photocopied and re-photocopied over at least 50 years, followed by scanning onto a set of CDs. The later was done by Ruben Drefs and offered for sale. As a result, the information is not always reliable – some of the transcribers may not have known German, and the images are often unreadable. The following table needs to be compared to the original.

The Mennonites in the 1772 census are rarely designated as such. I have included families I believe were Mennonite. The situation is complicated by the fact that the local Lutheran German population shared some of the same surnames, such as Goertz, Ewert, Wedel, Wichert, Block, etc. This added complication, together with the low quality transcription, means that there may be a few families I missed and/or a few families in my list who were not Mennonites.

The table below does not contain all of the information in the census. Economic data such as numbers of various kinds of livestock, grain harvested, taxes owed, etc. are not included here.

I searched the following “Mennonite” villages in the Culm area: Adamsdorf, Bendugen, Dorposch, Goglin, Grentz, Gross Lunau, Horst, Jamerau, Klein Lunau, Neusass, Nieder Ausmaas, Ober Ausmaas, Podwitz, Rossgarten, Schoeneich, Schoensee, Steinwage, Striowken, and Venedia. Several of these villages simply had no Mennonites in 1772 (or in the 1776 Mennonite census).

The columns “Status” and “Occupation” are mine and are arbitrary. The 9 columns that follow are:

M = Men (the head of the household)

W = Weibe (the wife)

S = Söhne (sons)

T = Töchter (daughters)

Kn = Knechte (male servants)

Mg – Magde (female servants)

Hufen = land measurement = 16.8 hectares = ca.41 acres.

Morgen = land measurement. There were 30 Morgen in a Hufe.

Ruten (rods) = land measurement. There were 300 Ruten in a Morgen.

The 2nd last column refers to the 1776 census of Mennonites in West Prussia. “Yes” means that a person (or two) with the same name is found in the same village in 1776. If a person appears in the 1772 census, but not the 1776 census, it means a) the person died, b) the person moved or c) the person may not have been a Mennonite.

Some terms defined:

Instleute = day laborer

Leinweber = weaver

Bauer = Farmer (landowner)

Einlieger = subtenant

Schneider = tailor

Meithsleute = renter

Schuster = shoe maker

Einwohner = resident (usually implies non-landowner)

Emphiteotl. = emphyteutisch tenancy of Crown Land

Stellm. = Stellmacher = cartwright or wheelwright

One interesting result of this research is that the list for Schoensee indicates that the village had both an Evangelical Lutheran school and a Mennonite school. And that there were people living in both buildings. There were 3 “Weiben” (females) living in the Mennonite school. This, to my knowledge, is the first document to show that the early Mennonites in West Prussia had their own schools.
