

Mennonite Land Acquisitions in West Prussia: 1789-1798

Compiled by Adalbert Goertz

The Mennoniten-Edict of 1789 froze and limited the land holdings of the Prussian Mennonites and was in force until its repeal in 1868. To enforce it, the Prussian authorities (the "Kammer") in Marienwerder were directed to periodically monitor Mennonite land holdings, acquisitions, and disposals. The following listing records the land acquisitions during the reign of King Friedrich Wilhelm II, who ruled 1786-1798, nephew and successor of King Friedrich II, who ruled 1740-1786.

The listing supplements the general land census/General-Nachweisung of 1789. It illustrates also the structure of land sovereigns in West Prussia prevailing during the period prior to the Stein-Hardenberg land reforms.

There were 3 land sovereigns in West Prussia:

- A. The Towns and Cities: Die Staedte
- B. The noble landlords: Die Adeligen Kreise
- C. The Crown (King): Die Koeniglichen Rent-Aemter/Intendanturen

Each land sovereign leased the land out to settlers in its own characteristic legal framework and tax system. As an example: The tax lists called Praestations-Tabellen compiled by the Domainen-Rentamt or Royal Amt would list the Emphyteuten of each village for the period 1773-1806, and 1819-ca.1850 on royal crown lands only.

When I tried to search for Praestations-Tabellen in the Montau-Gruppe and Schoensee areas, I was able to find such lists for Montau, Kommerau, Treul etc., but not for Gruppe, Schoensee and the villages in the Culm region. I finally realized that the first group were Royal Amt villages, and the latter were villages on nobility or city lands for which Praestations-Tabellen never existed.

The designation of the settlers also gives a clue of the land sovereign in question: Emphyteuten lived on crown land, Erbpaechter, Hochzinsler, Erbfreie, Koelmer lived on non-crown lands.

Which village belongs to which category may be found for the Danzig district in the "Uebersicht der Bestandtheile und Verzeichnis aller Ortschaften des Danziger Regierungs-Bezirks", Danzig 1820 (reprint Hamburg 1981) which gives the "Bezeichnung der Qualitaet" of each village.
