

Abraham F. Reimer Diary (1808-1892)

Steve Fast

The following tables contain genealogical information gleaned from the Abraham F. Reimer Diary. An English translation that I have edited is available.

In the first table I have attempted to list and to identify all the persons named or implied in the diary of Abraham F. Reimer, written 1870-1874. A few identifications may be somewhat speculative, although most are quite certain. I have named both husband and wife, even if one was not mentioned in the diary, as long as the couple was married at the time of the diary, or had been previously married to each other.

"GM" refers to the reference number in the Grandma database of Low German Mennonite genealogy. See the database at <http://www.grandmaonline.org> for more information on each person and to subscribe to it.

People moved between villages, so the villages named should not be taken as the definitive location where a person lived for the entire time covered by the diary. New people were also moving to Borosenko Colony until late in 1872.

In the second table I have attempted to list all the vital events (birth, engagement, marriage, death, and burial) mentioned in the diary of Abraham F. Reimer. When possible I have given the full name of the person, even when Abraham Reimer did not.

Diary Page refers to the first time that the person is mentioned in the diary.
